Hyperflite Announces a New Addition to its K-10 line of Competition-Approved Canine Discs
Jawz “X-Comp” Extreme Competition Model Offers Even More Choices to Disc Dog Aficionados.

(Atlanta, Georgia, December 1, 2005) Hyperflite, Inc., maker of patented competition-approved canine flying discs, announces the release of Jawz “X-Comp,” a puncture-resistant flying disc with a slightly less flexible but equally-tough polymer formulation that allows competitors to readily make non-aerodynamic throws including butterflies, kick throws, skips, brushes, etc., with more consistency than previously possible with standard Jawz discs.

Competitors will appreciate the feel of the Jawz X-Comp and its rock-solid handling characteristics in windy conditions. When performance counts, the Jawz X-Comp will help unleash the champion within your canine. The Jawz X-Comp (Attack Orange) may be purchased through the Skyhoundz store at www.skyhoundz.com. Jawz X-Comp will be sold individually and in an affordable five-disc “competition pack.”

Hyperflite was the first company to offer a complete line of competition-approved canine flying discs to meet the needs of every canine-disc enthusiast.

Hyperflite sparked a canine disc revolution at the dawn of the new millennium with the release of its patented K-10 Competition Standard flying disc designed exclusively for canines. More recently, Hyperflite released the Jawz disc, a puncture-resistant canine disc created especially for “dentally-obsessive” canines and the “Pup” series of flying discs for small dogs. Hyperflite’s introduction of its Jawz model means that a new generation of competitors will be able to participate in canine disc sports more affordably.

Hyperflite is committed to developing the safest, best-flying, and most durable canine discs in the world. Its support of the Skyhoundz Canine Disc World Championship series, the largest disc-dog series in the world, as well as the Hyperflite DiscDogathon Competition Series and other canine disc events in the U.S. and other countries ensures that disc dog competitors world-wide will have exciting venues in which to compete.
